UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

ECONOMIC COOPERATION ADMINISTRATION

SPECIAL MISSION TO THE NETHERLANDS

February 28, 1951 #6

TO: Mission Information Officers

FROM: Joseph Carter
Information Officer
The Hague

Attached is a pamphlet designed in this office which explains the Marshall Plan in storybook fashion for young readers. First printing is 150,000 copies.

The pamphlet is adapted from a puppet show given as part of our exhibit at the three-month long "Milestone 1950" held at Arnhem last spring and summer. The Arnhem show was the Dutch government's account of two years of Dutch recovery. The success of the puppet shows, particularly with the younger generation, seemed to warrant an effort to reach a larger audience. We hit on the idea of "packaging" the puppet show and selected 32 of the original 70 scenes with appropriate text to make up a pamphlet. Ideally, hard paper and full color would have been more effective. Both would have added too much to printing costs, however, so

TO: Mission Information Officers

FROM: Joseph Carter
Information Officer
The Hague, Holland.

Attached is a pamphlet on counterpart funds which was designed in this office and is now getting wide distribution in the Netherlands. First printing was for 100,000 copies.

As the release of Dutch counterpart funds has passed the guilder equivalent of a quarter million dollars and we had not hit the Dutch public with counterpart publicity other than with press releases we thought an informal, cartoon-style explanation in pamphlet form was called for. We were able to dove-tail publication with the opening of a month-long exhibition on counterpart funds we are holding in the largest department store

English Text for Counterpart Pamphlet

TWO BIRDS WITH ONE STONE
(Literally, "The Knife Cuts With Both Edges" - Dutch saying)

Page 1

1948 ... Notwithstanding the efforts of the Dutch people, reconstruction was threatened with delay. Holland needed more goods than she was able to pay for.

Many of these goods were being supplied by America.

Page 2

Before the war Holland had sufficient dollars and other currency with which to buy all the goods needed.

But in 1948 ....

... Holland had only guilders in order to buy

Other countries wanted dollars, no guilders, for the goods we wished to buy.

Page 4

That is why Marshall Aid came ... A dollar grant to the Netherlands.

Page 5

These dollars are a gift from the people of America--through their government--to the government and people of Holland.

THE VILLAGE OF EUROPE

Once upon a time everything in the village of Europe was cakes and ale. The baker provided the cakes and the goose provided the eggs. The goose was no ordinary goose, but a Prosperity Goose, and she laid golden eggs. And everyone in the village of Europe got his share.

But one evil day the Prosperity Goose disappeared.

Jan Klaassen (traditional happy-go-lucky Dutch puppet figure) scoured the entire village, but could not find her anywhere.

Perhaps she is scratching about near the wall of the old castle, thought Jan.

Everything will once again be O.K.

But this was not so: Prosperity was gone and did not return.

"It can't be helped," Jan said to Catherine. "Our Prosperity has disappeared."

"But that is absolutely terrible", said Catherine. "What are we going to do without those golden eggs?"

But Jan knew a way out of this difficulty. "In any case there must be bread in the cupboard," he said. "You go along to the baker and tell him that our Prosperity has disappeared and ask whether we can in the future get our bread for nothing."

"I'm very sorry, Catherine," said the baker, "but it can't be done.

If you cannot choose your way of life without fear of arrest, the concentration camp or the firing squad, you are left with the grim choice between moral and physical bondage.

If you are spared this choice,
it is because you live in a free country.
